Foreword

We, the staff of the 1956 Log, are proud to present this yearbook. In it are some new and, we hope, appealing features. We have done our best, and we believe that we are giving you a Log which will help you relive the four years you have spent at Melrose High School. If it enables you to do that, then, in some small measure, we have succeeded.

Girls' Club, Cheerleaders, Camera Club, Pep Club, Washington Party—what would these activities have been without Mr. McPheters. "Mac," who is noted for his wit, friendliness, pep, and thoughtfulness, has won the admiration of students and faculty alike. To show our appreciation for all that he has done for us, we, the class of 1956, dedicate our Log to Mr. George A. McPheters.

In addition to posting assignments, proofreading material, and planning the layout of the paper, the 1955-56 Imprint staff concentrated on thinking up original ideas to create a greater interest in the school paper among the student body. Their work resulted in special Christmas, Valentine, and Spring Fever issues. In addition, there were Fashion Flashes, Pol-Toks, and lengthy Corridor Echoes columns. A new literary section, Genius At Work, was inaugurated to give students a chance to gain recognition for creative writing.

The Play's The Thing

College pennants, crew cuts, books, and sodas were the setting for Masque and Wig's annual play, Mother Was a Freshman. After weeks of long practice and time-consuming rehearsals, the play, ably directed by Mr. Edward Watts, was presented for all to see on December 10. Certainly Gail Christiansen in her role of "Abby," or Helen Schlaufman, as the constantly eating "Marge," as well as the rest of the cast, will not be forgotten in the near future.

The Melrose High School Glee Club of eighty selected voices under the direction of Warren D. Wood presented several concerts during the school year. The concert season opened with the annual Thanksgiving program in the MHS auditorium. In December, the Glee Club presented their annual program to the Melrose Rotary Club and the Annual Christmas Vespers. A program of Christmas music by the Glee Club and soloists was presented at the Masonic Chapter Ladies' Night. The annual Music Night was the final appearance of the Glee Club in a very busy year of music. Two other events scheduled included a radio-broadcast via WBUR-FM in Boston and an exchange concert with a local high school glee club.

Under the musical direction of Mr. Warren Wood and the stage direction of Mr. Edward Golden, the Glee Club presented the operetta Masquerade in Vienna. Enthusiastic at the thought of singing and dancing to the music of Johann Strauss, the entire cast spent many hours in rehearsal for their two performances. Girls, Girls, Girls

Under the capable leadership of its officers and the guiding hand of Mr. McPheters, the club's founder and advisor, the Girls' Club enjoyed a profitable and active thirty-first year. As in past years, the Welfare Committee did an excellent job in distributing money and food baskets to several needy families in Melrose.

In keeping with the ideals of Girls' Club both serious and relaxing programs were planned for meetings on Monday evenings. These included speakers from the clergymen of various Protestant and Catholic churches, a spring fashion show, Mrs. Godfrey's Talent Scouts, and a spelling bee. In addition, to celebrate the club's thirty-first anniversary, the girls held a covered dish supper.

The G.A.A. sponsored, besides varsity sports, special activities including the Bowling Club, coed badminton and a novelty basketball game, girls versus boys.

The G.A.A. made all plans and preparations for two social get-togethers. The first, at the end of the field hockey season, was a pizza party for all players and G.A.A. members. In the spring, a beach party was held for all the girls who have participated in after-school sports.

Many changes were made to improve the squad. The number of cheerleaders was reduced from twelve to eight. The girls received new red corduroy uniforms. New cheers were added to the collection of old standbys. At the Boston Arena during the hockey season, the cheerleaders made their first attempt to cheer on ice. One event which will stand out in the girls' minds was the trip to Providence, Rhode Island, with the hockey team for the New England Hockey Finals.

Pep Club

The Pep Club was formed in 1954 for the purpose of fostering and perpetuating good sportsmanship in every way possible throughout the year, and to encourage good cheering at all athletic games.

The club did not function as well as in 1954 due to the late opening of school, the inclement weather, and above all the football schedule of only three home games.

However, there remained a nucleus of loyal members who made the club a power in developing school spirit during the ensuing year of sports.

Ranking high in importance in creating school spirit is the Melrose High School Band. Its primary function is to perform during half-time at both home and away football games. In addition to this, the members gave a concert and performed at Music Night.

The band also participated in the Northeastern Massachusetts Music Festival, an annual gathering of bands and other musical groups from this vicinity.

Camera Club

The newly organized Camera Club, open to all classes, was formed under the direction of Mr. McPheters to stimulate interest in photography. Each week, a meeting was held at which the members had an opportunity to hear speakers on photography. In addition, amateur contests were held to provide each member a chance to display his pictures.

Lights! Camera! Action!

Audio-Visual Club members were responsible for setting up and running all audio-visual equipment used in the school. Its members, about thirty-five boys, were thoroughly grounded in the mechanics of running tape recorders, record players, films, and spotlights. In addition to performing a worthwhile service to the school, the boys planned meetings for their own enjoyment which often featured movies.

The Red Raiders

The 1955-1956 football season was devoted to strengthening and building the young M. H. S. eleven for the following year. Walt Wenzke blocked making tackle after tackle and Billy Tryder kicking the all important extra point, the hard fighting Red Raiders opened the campaign with a 13-12 victory over Cambridge Latin. Although the Raiders did not keep up this fine pace, they showed excellent sportsmanship and spirit in all their remaining games. Other outstanding seniors were: Ed Reinhardt, Bill Solari, Tom Flood, Carl Smith, Bill Stasiowski, Art Anderson and Bob Jeffery. The team was awarded a berth in the newly formed Middlesex League that will commence in 1956. Juniors George Lowe and Dick Verville, quarterback and full back of the 1955-56 team, were elected co-captains for the following season.

New England Hockey Champions

The Raiders of 1955-56 proved themselves to be one of the greatest hockey teams ever to don the red and white of MHS. After clinching the GBI title for the tenth time in Melrose High's history, the Raiders went on to win the biggest prize of all, the New England Hockey Tournament, which was held in Providence, Rhode Island. Melrose's star center, Don MacInnis, who was voted the most outstanding player in the tourney, scored six goals and got seven assists in the three games to break the individual scoring record. With MacInnis scoring four goals, the classy Raiders walloped LaSalle, Rhode Island 9-1 in the opening round. The hard skating, smooth passing Melrose sextet scored six goals in the second game and defeated Hope, Rhode Island 6-2. As Ed Smith scored the two winning goals and Billy Tryder turned in a dazzling performance to earn the award for the best goaltender in the tournament, the rustling Red Raiders clinched the title by defeating St. Dominic's of Maine 4-2. The champions displayed true sportsmanship and fine team spirit throughout the season, helping to make the 1955-56 season a great one for MHS.

Due to the extended summer vacation the Cross Country Team, again under "Doc" Clark's able coaching, did not get under way until late September. The team worked hard, but this was not enough and Watertown handed Melrose one of its most bitter defeats in recent years. As the season progressed the team shaped up and lost only one more meet, that, by the slim margin of one point. The team ended the season with a record of three wins and two defeats.

The team's potential was shown by their strength down the middle, with power hitting Andy Anderson catching, veterans George Barrett and Bob Emery pitching, smooth-fielding Chris Smith and Bill Tryder for the second base combination, and speedsters Bob Jeffery and Bob O'Brien in the outfield. These players proved to be the nucleus for a strong contender in the Middlesex League competition.

Tennis

Although the courts were covered with snow, the girls' tennis team began practicing in the gym. There were many new girls trying to perfect their strokes, in addition to returning players Gwen Hess, Susan Wallace, Faith Mead, Susan Keith, and Sheila McFadden. Matches were played with Winchester, Lexington, Malden, Swampscott, Arlington, Concord, Belmont, and Newton.

Melrose High School has for a number of years been a member of the Suburban Tennis League. This year, the League has been expanded to nine teams. They are Belmont, Watertown, Cambridge Latin, Rindge Tech, Malden, Winthrop, Beverly, and St. John's Prep. Although last year's team was entirely lost through graduation, newcomers provided a balanced squad.

Manning intercepts a pass.

Despite the almost unceasing rain the girls' field hockey team had a busy season. Near the end of the season, work was being done on the field and the team had to resort to practicing on the football field.

The teams included in Melrose's schedule were: Newton, Arlington, Malden, Swampscott, Lexington, Stoneham, and Winchester.

Although the Varsity record was one win, four losses, and two tie games; many of the losses were by narrow margins.

The lang drive.

Teamwark

Under the fine coaching of Miss Monnat, both the Varsity and the Junior Varsity progressed well during the 1955-1956 season. Playing a busy schedule were varsity high scorers Nancy Spear, Ginny Greenwald, and Jackie Bennett with their guards Sue Garniss, Marie Fondulis, and Carol Ladd. The Junior Varsity girls turned in a record of four wins and four losses.
